

REALISE IT

Go green!

Can EMA become an environmentally friendly community?

A project by Mofizur Rahman

What's the idea?

Create Erasmus Mundus as a brand of environmental concern global leaders.

Who are we looking for?

People from various backgrounds with a feeling of global citizenship and having love for planet and society.

When will this project be realised?

It would be a continuous process. Initially to publish a booklet for 'environmental responsibility as a global citizen' for Erasmus Mundus and OCEANS Network students who are moving different countries within the Europe and other continents and then organize soft skill seminars on sustainable living and carbon/ water foot print concepts and practicalities.

What's the background?

I came to Europe from a rural Asian village. At the very beginning I was amazed by European "luxury". Now I am in a position to criticize the life style we are leading here from the social inequality and human right/ ethical point of view. I am educating myself to serve the society. Whatever discipline I belong to doesn't matter for me, ultimate goal is to serve the human well-being. For a better future of this planet people from every discipline should have common responsibility to promote sustainable living. We all know about sustainability but we have to figure it out how do we promote it by our day to day practice.

The project will target to create a brand which is sustainable in thinking and in practice. It will also introduce green procurement policy to EMA and create an aware global citizenship of low carbon foot print that concerns about fair trade, water scarcity and other resources distribution issues.
